description

While currently studying my 4th year of Mathematics at UPC, I'm looking forward to starting my career in Quantitative Analysis. I'm eager to apply my knowledge base to real use cases, and to learn new tools and strategies for problem-solving.

I love how mathematics allows us to understand reality, and how it helps us to make sense of the challenges we face in an abstract plane, as to better solve them. I'm particularly interested in the ways the translation from mathematics to reality can be implemented, especially in software.
